U.S. Government Experience: Firm Directory

April 2026

A Washington, DC ‘Insider’

One office by design – a dominant presence in Washington, DC

Wiley is a preeminent law firm wired into Washington, advising Fortune 500 corporations, trade associations, and individuals on legal matters at the intersection of government, business, and innovation. Nearly half of our partners are former government officials. Our clients include one-third of the 100 top U.S. government contractors; top communications companies; thousands of midsize and small businesses; and manufacturers spanning nearly two dozen industries. We are also the destination in DC for companies driving transformations ranging from artificial intelligence and cryptocurrency to autonomous vehicles and commercial drones.

Highly respected in Washington, we have long-standing relationships with key decision-makers across the federal government. Many Wiley attorneys and public policy advisors have held high-level positions in the White House, both chambers of Congress, and federal agencies including the U.S. Departments of Commerce, Defense, Justice, State, and Treasury; the Environmental Protection Agency; the FBI; the Federal Communications Commission, Federal Election Commission, Federal Trade Commission, and Securities and Exchange Commission; the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative; and the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. We also have a deep bench of attorneys who have experience litigating and counseling clients on classified matters within the defense and intelligence communities.

For more than 30 years, our Election Law & Government Ethics Practice attorneys have represented clients before the FEC in enforcement actions, advisory opinion requests, and rulemaking proceedings. Our Practice, which includes a former FEC Chairman and several attorneys who served at the highest levels of the agency, has extensive familiarity with the FEC and possesses unique insight into how the agency operates and makes decisions. We provide clients with a unique combination of talent – unrivaled substantive understanding of federal campaign finance law and exceptional representational capability – to respond efficiently and effectively in any FEC matter.

We routinely:

- Defend clients in enforcement actions, known as Matters Under Review (MURs)
- Represent clients in sua sponte matters, which involve self-reported campaign finance violations
- Represent clients in Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) negotiations
- Represent political committees in audits
- Assist clients in requesting advisory opinions
- File comments on behalf of clients in rulemaking proceedings and other policymaking matters
- Assist political committees in adequately responding to Requests for Additional Information (RFAs) from the Reports Analysis Division (RAD)

Wiley has one of the most active and well-respected bid protest practices in the nation, one that is widely regarded as the Government Contracts Practice's "forte." Our attorneys regularly represent companies either challenging or defending procurement procedures or contract awards in bid protests before the GAO. Our successes include:

- Protesting, on behalf of The Boeing Company, the U.S. Air Force award of a $35 billion contract for the next generation of aerial refueling tankers, prevailing on several protest grounds in one of the most prominent GAO protests in recent history
- Defending protests brought by two disappointed offerors challenging CMS award to Noridian Administrative Services of a large Medicare and Medicaid claims processing contract valued at almost $400 million before the GAO, and the follow-on protest filed at the COFC
- Defending the award of a $1.1 billion Air Force operations and maintenance contract in a bid protest filed at the GAO

Attorneys in our Health Care Practice handle the full spectrum of matters relating to the procurement of health care benefits and services – from the solicitation of requests for proposals to the defense or protest of contract awards before the GAO, other agencies, and the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. Partnering with the firm's Government Contracts attorneys, our Health Care Practice successfully defended the first MAC contract award to a Medicare contractor (for Durable Medical Equipment Jurisdiction D) in a bid protest before the GAO.

White Collar Defense & Government Investigations Practice

Ralph J. Caccia | 202.719.7242 | rcaccia@wiley.law

Our attorneys represent a range of corporate clients and executives in all stages of congressional investigative and oversight proceedings – from informal information requests and staff interviews, to subpoena response and compliance, to preparation for congressional hearings and testimony. They work closely with our clients to help them understand, navigate, and effectively manage the often unfamiliar, and always challenging, congressional investigations and oversight process.

Our lawyers have worked for some of the principal investigatory committees of the House and Senate – including the U.S. Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation; the U.S. House of Representatives Energy & Commerce Committee; and the House and Senate committees on ethics – and we continue to enjoy strong relationships with policymaking Members of Congress and senior staff. These relationships enable us to provide our clients with critical insight into negotiating with congressional staff to limit the scope of requests for documents and interviews and, as a result, to limit intrusion on corporate resources and operations.
