Wired into Washington

Wiley is a preeminent law firm wired into Washington. As a trusted advisor to Fortune 500 corporations, trade associations, and individuals across all industries, we provide strategic guidance on complex legal and regulatory matters that define the national and global landscape. With the current administration shaping policy directives, regulatory enforcement, and legislative agendas, our highly respected attorneys and public policy advisors offer unmatched insights into the evolving priorities of agencies, regulators, and lawmakers. We are the firm of choice in DC for many of the most innovative, influential, and transformational companies, business groups, and nonprofit organizations. From artificial intelligence (AI), autonomous vehicles, and blockchain technologies to government contracts, international trade, and telecom, media & technology (TMT), we integrate deep industry knowledge with sophisticated understanding of Washington's regulatory and legislative environment. Our interdisciplinary approach allows us to anticipate challenges, craft policies, and deliver solutions that empower emerging innovators and established industry leaders to thrive in an era of rapid evolution and heightened scrutiny. # The Wiley Way

Building on another year of success and strategic counsel for our clients, Wiley enters 2025 at full speed—leading the way on the legal and policy shifts shaping industries, markets, and government.

In 2024, we not only achieved significant victories for our clients but also set legal precedents that will shape the future of key industries. From high-stakes litigation to pivotal developments in trade policy and emerging technologies, our work has influenced key sectors and fortified businesses against regulatory uncertainty. We have defended critical interests in court, guided companies through complex legal frameworks, and provided strategic counsel in an environment of constant change.

Ensuring our clients remain positioned for success in a rapidly shifting environment is paramount. To that end, we launched the Trump Administration and SCOTUS Resource Centers, delivering real-time intelligence on sweeping policy shifts, executive orders, and enforcement priorities, and expanded our thought leadership with three new podcasts, providing sophisticated insights and analysis on digital assets, financial regulation, and more.

Our ability to anticipate change and deliver strategic counsel has never been stronger. We expanded our bench with top-tier talent, reinforcing our strengths in TMT, litigation, international trade, national security, white collar defense, and environment and product regulation—ensuring our clients benefit from unmatched depth and experience.

At the same time, our commitment to pro bono service remains steadfast. In 2024, our attorneys dedicated thousands of hours to cases that safeguarded fundamental rights and ensured access to justice. We secured a unanimous U.S. Supreme Court victory in a major constitutional case, successfully defended the rights of incarcerated individuals, and advocated for military reservists in a landmark benefits case. Our work on behalf of nonprofit organizations, asylum seekers, and survivors of domestic violence reinforces our belief that legal excellence must serve not only our clients but also the broader community.

As we enter 2025, the legal and policy landscape is shifting at an unprecedented pace. A new administration has brought an immediate wave of executive actions, signaling shifts in enforcement, trade, and regulatory priorities. With Washington moving at full speed, we are already advising clients on what these changes mean for their businesses and industries. Wiley's deep-rooted understanding of government and policy gives our clients an edge in navigating the fast-changing terrain ahead.

Through it all, our mission remains clear: winning for our clients, shaping the law, and driving success in an era of transformation.

We are honored by the trust our clients place in us and grateful for the exceptional team that defines Wiley. 2025 is poised to be another pivotal year, and we stand ready to continue leading the way.

Thought Leadership

Wiley is a trusted authority, renowned for delivering sophisticated analysis and strategic guidance on the most consequential issues shaping business, government, and the law.

To ensure our clients and stakeholders stayed ahead of these developments, we expanded our thought leadership platforms, launching several resource centers including the Trump Administration and SCOTUS Resource Centers—offering critical analysis on sweeping executive actions, regulatory priorities, and judicial decisions that will shape industries for years to come. We also introduced three new podcasts—Crypto Counsel, Wicked Coin, and Parallel Proceedings—providing deep analysis on digital assets, financial regulation, and the increasingly complex intersection of civil, criminal, and regulatory enforcement.

These initiatives underscore Wiley's leadership at the nexus of law and policy, equipping clients with the foresight, clarity, and strategic insights needed to navigate today's rapidly shifting landscape with confidence.

Pro Bono Program & Community Engagement

Wiley prides itself on a strong tradition of service to the local and global community and encourages its attorneys and legal assistants to participate in pro bono activities. Our representations, which stem from Wiley’s pro bono mission to provide equal access to the justice system for individuals and groups who would otherwise be unable to afford counsel, have included noteworthy cases and a diverse array of matters referred through legal service providers with whom we have forged close ties. Some of the outstanding organizations with whom we partner include the D.C. Bar Pro Bono Center, the Legal Aid Society of D.C., and the Washington Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs, among many others. In 2024, our attorneys and legal assistants conducted over 13,000 hours of pro bono work on nearly 150 matters in numerous forums, including the U.S. Supreme Court.

Highlights of Our Pro Bono Matters:

U.S. Supreme Court Victory in Double Jeopardy Case: In a pro bono victory that also highlights the capabilities of our Issues and Appeals Practice, Wiley persuaded the Supreme Court to reject, in a unanimous 2024 decision, an attempt by the state of Georgia to prosecute a Wiley pro bono client a second time for the same offense. The Court held that federal law, not state law, determines what is an acquittal and that the Double Jeopardy Clause of the Fifth Amendment prohibited Georgia's effort to characterize a jury's verdict of acquittal as something other than an acquittal.

Successful Constitutional Challenge to Censorship in North Carolina Prisons: Wiley represented a nonprofit publisher in nearly three years of hotly contested First Amendment litigation, culminating in a favorable settlement with the State of North Carolina and the North Carolina Department of Adult Corrections over prison officials' improper censorship of our client's publications – a culmination of almost three years of hotly contested litigation. The settlement guarantees the delivery of previously censored publications, establishes procedures to avoid improper censorship in the future, and includes a $1.2 million payment for damages and attorneys' fees/costs.

Advocating for Military Reservists in Supreme Court Differential Pay Case: On behalf of the Reserve Organization of America (ROA), Wiley helped persuade the Supreme Court to hear an important case for military Reservists. In an ROA amicus brief, Wiley urged the Court to reverse a Federal Circuit ruling that federal civilian-employee Reservists who are called to serve their country during a national emergency are entitled to differential pay only when there is a connection between the Reservist's military service and the declared national emergency.

Defending Constitutional Rights of Almost 1,200 Incarcerated Individuals to Appropriate Medical Care: As part of an long-running federal class action, Wiley continues to represent incarcerated individuals at Fluvanna Correctional Center for Women, a Virginia state prison, in monitoring and enforcing a Settlement Agreement under which the Virginia Department of Corrections assumed a host of obligations necessary to improve the quality of the medical care at the prison to meet constitutional minimum standards under the Eighth Amendment.

Helping Persuade First Circuit That Boston City Council's Prayer Custom

Is Constitutional: Representing a religious liberties organization as amicus curiae, Wiley helped persuade the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit that the Boston City Council's custom of inviting guest chaplains to give an opening prayer at its meetings is constitutional. Agreeing with arguments advanced by Wiley in an amicus brief, the First Circuit affirmed a lower court's ruling that "the Constitution does not require that legislative bodies accept all speakers who request to give invocations."

Obtaining a Civil Protection Order for a Survivor of Domestic Abuse:

Working with the D.C. Volunteer Lawyers Project, Wiley provided a survivor of domestic abuse with full representation in a case against the client's abuser. After several weeks of collecting evidence, an investigation to locate the client's abuser, and multiple court dates, Wiley's client was granted a civil protection order, which will be in effect for two years and significantly improve the safety and well-being of the client.

Client Successes

In 2024, Wiley secured high-stakes, precedent-setting victories for clients in complex matters spanning numerous practice areas.

Government Contracts: Recognized by Law360 as a Government Contracts Group of the Year, Wiley is at the center of some of the largest and most important matters in government contracts. In 2024, the top-ranked team won a precedent-setting victory for a top defense contractor client in a cost-accounting dispute with profound importance to the government contracts community. Wiley also successfully defended a leading U.S. shipbuilder against a nationwide antitrust class action suit, and prevailed in numerous bid protest disputes – including successfully defending a client against protests challenging a competitor’s exclusion from a multimillion-dollar Navy contract to develop and produce the Dual Band Decoy – a major electronic warfare upgrade that helps U.S. fighter pilots avoid radar-guided anti-aircraft missiles.

Insurance: Named a Law360 Insurance Group of the Year, Wiley is the go-to firm for insurers facing high-profile disputes and novel legal challenges. In a case that highlights the firm’s cyber insurance capabilities, the team secured a 2024 victory that set an important precedent in business interruption coverage disputes under cyber policies. The case stemmed from a ransomware attack against a firm that sought coverage under its cyber policy, claiming “Business Income Loss” should encompass all lost revenues plus all normal operating expenses incurred during the “Interruption Period.” Agreeing with Wiley’s arguments, a federal district court in Arkansas ruled that the cyber policy’s business interruption coverage should not result in a windfall for the policyholder and the relevant policy language unambiguously established the proper methodology for calculating “Business Income Loss.”

Intellectual Property: Wiley secured a first-of-its-kind victory for client Marriott International in a lawsuit stemming from an international robocall scam in which nearly a dozen domestic and foreign entities misused Marriott's trademark. The U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia awarded $8 million in damages to Marriott, the maximum amount allowed, finding that two Mexico-based firms infringed Marriott's trademarks by misappropriating its brand name in over 66 million fraudulent robocalls. Agreeing with Wiley that the unauthorized use of a trademark in an illegal robocall can constitute trademark counterfeiting, the court issued a broad injunction that Marriott can use to shut down future scams by these parties.

International Trade: Recognized by Law360 as a 2024 International Trade Group of the Year, Wiley last year continued its strong record of winning large, complex antidumping and countervailing duty cases on behalf of domestic industries that are threatened by foreign competitors' unfair trade practices. The firm also advocates for clients in critically important trade policy matters, and last year had a key role in persuading the Commerce Department to reject Vietnam's request for U.S. classification as a "market economy" for purposes of calculating antidumping duties. Commerce's determination that Vietnam continues to function as a non-market economy was a victory for Wiley's clients across numerous U.S. industries, including steel, aluminum extrusions, catfish, hardwood plywood, and wind towers, among others.

Litigation: In 2024, Wiley was recognized among the "Most-Feared Law Firms in Litigation" by BTI and short-listed for "DC Litigation Firm of the Year" by Benchmark Litigation. Benchmark also recognized six of Wiley's partners as "Litigation Stars," "Future Stars," and "40 & Under." The multidisciplinary Litigation group's decisive, high-stakes victories for clients last year included:

- Securing the denial of a preliminary injunction to halt joint-fundraising political advertisements in the critical days before the 2024 election.
- Obtaining a reduction in collateral consequences imposed against a former pharmaceutical executive, with an opening brief on appeal to that was so powerful it spurred an immediate settlement request by the governing agency.
- Securing dismissal with prejudice of a False Claims Act lawsuit based on alleged violations of the Anti-Kickback Statute by a medical device manufacturer.

Telecom, Media & Technology: Wiley won a federal lawsuit challenging exorbitant fees imposed by the city of Rochester, NY on 5G small cell and fiber optic facilities in public rights of way. The fees threaten the rollout of broadband infrastructure in the city, and as a result they violate the federal Communications Act and the FCC's implementing regulations. The favorable 2024 ruling secured by Wiley is critical to the wireless and broadband industries' ability to quickly deploy new high-speed services to U.S. consumers, and the principles in this case could have a multibillion-dollar impact in jurisdictions across the country.

Wiley is a premier destination for strategic counsel at the intersection of law, policy, and business. We provide Fortune 500 corporations, trade associations, and non-profits with unparalleled guidance, navigating the most intricate regulatory and legal environments with precision and foresight. Our seamless integration of disciplines allows us to anticipate shifts, set key precedence that shape policy, and deliver tailored, forward-thinking solutions that empower our clients to thrive in an increasingly dynamic and complex world.

With deep industry knowledge and government experience, we are the firm of choice for clients confronting challenges across a broad spectrum of industries and practices, including AI, government contracts, international trade, litigation, and TMT. Whether defining legal frameworks for traditional markets or setting new benchmarks for transformative technologies, we remain at the vanguard of influence, equipping our clients to navigate uncertainty with clarity and confidence.

The following sections highlight our key practice areas and the depth of experience we bring to each.

Corporate

With extensive experience and a deep understanding of our clients' businesses, market dynamics, and regulatory obligations, our Corporate attorneys work with colleagues across the firm's practices to ensure highly complex transactions are structured to meet clients' targeted business goals. Each of our Corporate partners has decades of experience handling a wide variety of acquisitions, divestitures, mergers, and restructuring transactions, by both public and private mid-market companies, with transaction values ranging from less than $1 million to more than $2 billion, often in highly regulated industries. Our collaborative team has unparalleled industry and regulatory knowledge, extensive deal experience, and lawyers with the discerning legal skills to provide a comprehensive range of transactional services required by our clients.

Election Law & Government Ethics

Founded as the first election law practice in the country, our group is led by former FEC Chairman Michael E. Toner. It includes former FEC officials, former steering committee members of the Council on Governmental Ethics Laws, the former Chief Counsel and Staff Director of the U.S. Senate and House Ethics Committees, and former counsel to several federal agencies. Our advice and advocacy for clients, many of them Fortune 500 companies – as well as leading political campaigns, parties, and political action committees (PACs) – extends to federal, state, and local activities. Whether assisting in creating new political strategies, integrating a full-service legal and regulatory compliance plan, or representing a client in legal proceedings, we devise effective and tactical solutions that go beyond the immediate issue to help our clients remain far ahead and well-positioned for success.

Environment & Product Regulation

Distinctly positioned to address the most nuanced environmental and consumer product issues facing businesses today, our Environment & Product Regulation Practice is deeply embedded in Washington. Our multidisciplinary team comprises lawyers, consultants, and regulatory analysts who assist clients with environmental, legal, and business challenges across every single phase of the lifecycle of a consumer product. We partner on high-level policy, regulatory, litigation, and enforcement matters for clients ranging from some of the largest publicly held companies in the world to private entities and trade associations engaged in all levels of the supply chain.

Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG)

While ESG considerations have long been a focus for many companies, they continue to evolve in global commerce and attract heightened attention from market participants, policymakers, and regulators. Wiley's interdisciplinary legal team works closely with clients across a broad range of topics and issues, including DEI counseling and support, supply chain concerns, sustainability, climate change, social impact, human rights, data protection, and more. We are adept at navigating the rapidly changing, increasingly complicated regulatory and political environment that has elevated ESG implementation and compliance to a top boardroom priority. Our lawyers craft tailored and effective ESG strategies, policies, and guidelines to ensure meaningful compliance with and implementation of domestic and international standards as well as offer sophisticated assistance when disputes involving ESG issues arise.

Food & Drug

For life sciences companies worldwide, our Food & Drug Practice provides crucial legal and regulatory counsel to help our clients – from global corporations to innovative startups – stay ahead of the curve in an industry defined by change. Operating at the intersection of law, policy, business, technology, and scientific innovation, Wiley is a Washington institution with a global impact, providing indispensable counsel to pharmaceutical, medical device, biotechnology, clinical research, food and dietary supplements, animal feed and drug, and cosmetic companies. As these industries face unprecedented complexities and challenges, we draw on our decades of experience – and trusted relationships with key decision-makers at all levels of government – to provide the integrated regulatory, legal, and strategic counsel our clients need to adapt and thrive.

FTC Regulation

Led by the former Assistant Director of Financial Practices at the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), we are unmatched in representing clients who deal with the broad range of the agency's work. We have a deep bench of attorneys with experience serving a wide array of companies and business groups who deal with FTC and consumer regulatory issues across industries. We have extensive knowledge of the agency and leverage our cross-disciplinary teams to assemble the most effective representation for every client matter. From Fortune 100 companies to small and emerging businesses, we advise clients on complex and sophisticated issues and help clients engage with the FTC and other agencies on consumer-related matters – including privacy, data security, fintech, the Internet of Things, AI, advertising law, financial practices, and industry self-regulatory efforts.

Government Contracts

Leveraging decades of industry experience, Wiley's consummate team of Government Contracts attorneys and consultants provides practical, tactical, and effective representation that is essential to obtaining successful outcomes for our clients. With leading practitioners in every area of government contracts, and a deep bench of nearly 40 core lawyers, the group has developed a broad base of clients nationwide and around the world – spanning virtually all industries, including defense and aerospace, energy, intelligence, information technology, professional services, telecommunications, health care, architectural and engineering, logistics, and construction services. Our credibility with decision-makers in virtually every part of the government is unparalleled, and because of our successes and reputation for client service, Wiley is consistently ranked by Chambers USA in the top tier of the nation's government contracts practices.

Health Care

Our Health Care Practice handles the full spectrum of matters relating to the procurement of health care benefits and services – including contract disputes, Medicare compliance and contract administration, HIPAA privacy and security requirements, and health care fraud investigations, to name just a few.

For more than 20 years, we have counseled a diverse array of for-profit and not-for-profit health care contractors in connection with government programs including Medicare, Medicaid, the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program, and the U.S. Department of Defense TRICARE program. We also provide guidance on statutory and regulatory requirements impacting commercial and/or government health care programs, including the Affordable Care Act, HIPAA/HITECH, and the Medicare Secondary Payer statute.

Insurance

As one of the most prominent insurer-side practices in the country, we represent our clients in professional liability, cyber, general liability, bad faith, and appellate matters throughout all 50 states. As trusted counsel to the largest insurance companies in the United States and around the world, we are broadly recognized for successfully representing insurers on complicated and high-exposure matters. With a deep bench that stands out for its range of legal acumen and an insider's understanding of the insurance industry, our prominent team is a force of legal capabilities as well as business strategy. We have handled some of the most high-profile insurance matters in the United States and secured landmark rulings for our clients that have involved tens of billions of dollars.

Intellectual Property

Ranked among the top U.S. firms in this cutting-edge area of law, we deliver the results IP clients count on when complex innovations and major amounts of capital are at stake – and when the outcomes can determine a client's future. We offer comprehensive IP services for owners and users of patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets, with a strategic focus on new technologies, life sciences, biotech, telecommunications, aerospace, and manufacturing. As a preeminent DC firm serving IP clients worldwide, we bring a multidisciplinary perspective to matters involving the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office, the U.S. Copyright Office, the U.S. Food & Drug Administration, and other federal agencies in the IP space. We draw upon our long-standing relationships with these agencies to provide clients with litigation support and prosecution counsel as well as crucial insights and strategic guidance.

International Trade

As one of the largest and most wide-ranging trade practices in the country, we help companies and industries succeed in today's highly volatile global trade environment – from novel solutions on niche matters to sweeping client victories that transform trade on the world stage. Leveraging our deep legal skill and knowledge, Washington and global policy experience, and strong government relationships, we win high-stakes trade litigation, navigate complex regulatory barriers, and advance innovative policy initiatives. We work with clients across every level of commerce, from domestic manufacturers seeking import relief to vast global entities and emerging industry disruptors, strategically helping our clients navigate global markets and anticipate key developments – because international trade law and policy are constantly changing.

Issues and Appeals

Described by The Legal 500 US as “hugely effective,” Wiley has a tremendous record in courts at all levels throughout the country. Our “elite cadre of appellate lawyers” (Legal Times) is frequently called upon for bet-the-company cases or to reverse a lower court, regulatory, or legislative defeat, as we have done many times. The group will often take the lead for an entire industry on a critical issue in litigation across the country. Wiley’s Issues and Appeals Practice also has extensive experience acting as a “private solicitor general” for its clients, moving issues across forums to find the correct venue and timing for victory. Wiley can also keep clients outside Washington up to date on the latest decisions that may affect them from the Supreme Court and the D.C. and Federal Circuits.

Litigation

Our team offers top talent and unparalleled knowledge and experience in DC issues and litigation. We practice in complex, government-adjacent litigation for clients around the world. Our cases often begin as regulatory, political, or criminal disputes or investigations that give rise to consequential litigation or arbitration. Our practice is not only to win the case, but to work in tandem with Wiley’s premier regulatory practices to deliver results for our clients that are multifaceted and bespoke. Our civil and criminal litigators are highly credentialed former big-law trial and appellate lawyers, federal prosecutors and advisors, and judicial clerks from every level of the state and federal judiciaries. We advise private-sector corporations, trade associations, nonprofits, and financial institutions, as well as individuals and government officials, across a broad spectrum of regulatory, arbitral, and judicial disputes, both domestically and internationally.

National Security

Our National Security Practice combines our export control, sanctions, CFIUS, supply chain and strategic competition, government contracts, international trade, technology and telecom proficiencies, unparalleled relationships in DC, and insights into the intersection of policy, regulatory, and competition issues to provide clients with a sophisticated level of service, strategy, and outcomes to national security matters. Our preeminent team is unmatched in representing clients in anticipating and responding to national security business threats and administrative proceedings. We have a deep bench of distinct and focused capabilities, strong relationships across government agencies, and extensive experience serving a wide array of clients in every industry that is impacted by national security challenges and liabilities.

Privacy, Cyber & Data Governance

Our team assists clients with a full spectrum of privacy, cybersecurity, and data governance issues, from compliance to transactional diligence to investigations, enforcement, and litigation. We have an exceptionally wide range and depth of experience in privacy and cyber matters across sectors, including tech, telecom, health care, government contracting, and financial services. Our practice spans federal, state, and international levels, featuring IAPP-certified attorneys and numerous former government officials, and we routinely advocate for sensible privacy and cyber approaches before government agencies. From the high-tech sector to government contractors to fintech to brick-and mortar retailers, we cover a range of challenges and are trusted advisors to companies and associations working on privacy and data security around the world.

Public Policy

Wiley's Public Policy Group provides clients technical insights and high-level advocacy while leveraging the legal resources of a national law firm. Drawing from the firm's collective strength and multidisciplinary capabilities of attorneys and professionals, the Public Policy Group is an industry-leading advocate for trade associations, startups, publicly traded companies, and small and large businesses that operate in the areas of telecommunications, health care, energy, transportation, and international trade. The group has worked closely with members of Congress in both parties, members of the Executive branch, and federal regulators on issues involving the Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Communications Commission (FCC), and Food & Drug Administration, as well as the U.S. Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Defense, Energy, Health and Human Services, Homeland Security, Transportation, and Veterans Affairs.

Telecom, Media & Technology

Our team continues to be the preeminent TMT practice in the United States, if not the world, representing not only the largest and most important companies, but also new and innovative players across the TMT spectrum. Our professionals include individuals who have occupied high-level positions at the FCC, the FTC, the Departments of Commerce and State, as well as on Capitol Hill. With more than 60 attorneys, public policy advisors, and engineers, our practice encompasses an exceptionally broad range of technologies, from traditional matters – such as spectrum allocation, license applications, regulatory compliance, agency investigations, content licensing and distribution, pole attachment proceedings, and litigation – to rapidly evolving innovations such as AI, uncrewed aircraft systems (UAS), satellites, blockchain, fintech regulation, and issues associated with the internet and the Internet of Things.

White Collar Defense & Government Investigations

Our elite team is regularly called upon to advise Fortune 500 companies, small and medium-sized companies, not-for-profits, business executives, and public officials when they are confronted with criminal and civil government enforcement actions and investigations. The practice includes former Assistant U.S. Attorneys, former congressional investigative counsel, former U.S. Department of Justice and U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission attorneys, a former acting Inspector General of the State Department, and a deep pool of home-grown talent specializing in government investigations and white collar litigation. We represent clients across the full spectrum of industry sectors, with a special focus on civil and criminal matters involving government contracting, life sciences, international trade, securities and commodities fraud, the False Claims Act, the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act, the Procurement Integrity Act, conflict-of-interest (anticorruption) statutes, cybersecurity, and election law.
