

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO A PANEL DISCUSSION

The Telephone Consumer Protection Act . . . Stuck in the 1990's

Thursday, October 22, 2014 at 3:00 – 4:00 PM
253 Russell Senate Office Building

Passed in 1991, the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA) is at its core a consumer protection statute aimed at shielding a consumer's privacy by restricting telemarketing calls, junk faxes and the use of automated dialing equipment.

Between 2010 and 2014, filings of TCPA lawsuits increased 560%.

Join our expert panelists as they discuss recent developments under the TCPA, the FCC's recent omnibus declaratory ruling and the importance in distinguishing between abusive telemarketers and companies contacting their consumers.

Featuring:

- Harold Kim
Executive Vice President, U.S. Chamber Institute for Legal Reform
- Michele Shuster
General Counsel, Professional Association for Customer Engagement
- Adonis Hoffman
Chairman, Business in the Public Interest
Adjunct Professor, Georgetown University
- Scott Delacourt
Partner, Wiley Rein LLP

Please RSVP to coney@uschamber.com

Sponsored by:

NO PRESS PLEASE