Media Coverage of A-SMACC Response to Commerce on China Solar Retaliation

E&E News, Law360, Solar Power World, Reuters Energy, pv Magazine, The National Law Review
October 15, 2021

Recent coverage related to the American Solar Manufacturers Against Chinese Circumvention (A-SMACC) was published in E&E News, Law360, Solar Power World, Reuters Energy, pv Magazine, and The National Law Review.

A-SMACC filed petitions requesting that the Department of Commerce investigate unfairly traded imports of solar cells and modules that are unlawfully circumventing antidumping and countervailing duties on China. A-SMACC provided a 700-page submission detailing the history of Chinese Government retaliation against the U.S. solar and other industries.

Wiley International Trade attorneys Tim Brightbill, Laura El-Sabaawi, Adam Teslik, and Elizabeth Lee are advising A-SMACC.
